Author's Notes:

I hope you forgive me–this made me giggle, and I thought it might amuse you too! (Forgive me)

Can You Smell Garlic...?

The mess was unbelievable; he'd suspected it would be unpleasant, but he hadn't thought it would be this bad.

They'd tried to help. Nothing worked, but something must be done; fans were missing, and someone in authority was going to notice–

Steve had responded cheerfully to the offer of a line or two. He'd taken a good, deep snort, and the expression on his face before the effect had kicked in was one that Sav hoped never, ever to see again.

After all, who would have thought that substituting a vampire's coke with garlic powder would make their head explode?
